DUBLIN

The Scene of a Terrible Conflict Between the Military and Citizens.

Four Person Killed and Over Sixty Are Taken Into Hospitals.

Police Commissioner Suspended
For Calling Out King's Borderers.

HOME RULE PLANS ARE BALBED

Three men and one woman are dead and more than sixty persons are in the hospital wounded, as the result of a battle of the King's Own Scottish Borderers firing into a crowd in the streets of Dublin last Sunday afternoon. Seven of the wounded are expected to die. Among them are three women and a boy of ten. The affray was the result of a gun-running exploit of the Nationalist Volunteers, who were being aided by sympathizers composed largely of women and youths. A consignment of rifles, said to number 10,000, was landed Sunday at Howth, nine miles from Dublin, from a private yacht. The Nationalist Volunteers cut the telegraph wires and stopped travel on the Dublin roads, and according to reports sent away most of the rifles, together with 70,000 rounds of ammunition, in motor cars.

A thousand volunteers marched openly from Dublin to receive the arms, but declared they were merely making a practice march. Local police and the coast guard tried to prevent the landing of the arms, but were driven off. When the Dublin authorities learned of the landing they sent sixty police to seize the arms. They were later re-enforced by 200 others under command of an Assistant Commissioner. The police were drawn up on both sides of the road along which the volunteers were returning, with soldiers in the center of the road. When the volunteers saw the mobilization most of them got away with their arms, scattering through the fields. The police and soldiers tried to disarm the remainder. In the resulting affray several revolver shots were fired by volunteers, and a Corporal and a private were wounded. The volunteers also used their rifles as clubs.

The soldiers fired and used their bayonets freely, inflicting many cuts. Then they had a running fight with the volunteers and the rapidly growing crowds through the streets to their barricades.

The Lord Mayor has issued a strong letter of protest, the troops were ordered out without permission being asked of the Lord Mayor, and he demands that the responsibility shall be fixed for the calling out of the soldiers and for supplying them with ball cartridges. He adds: "Dublin and Ireland look with confidence to John Redmond and his colleagues to bring to justice those responsible for this shocking outrage. There must no longer be one law for a section of the Ulster people and another law for the remainder of the Irish people."

The London Daily News calls the affair at Dublin a massacre, and demands a rigid investigation of the conduct of the soldiers. It lays the responsibility upon the weakness of the Government which allowed the organization of the Ulster volunteers and could not prohibit the Nationalists from doing the same.

There was further excitement Monday night in Dublin, but it subsided without serious results. Six hundred volunteers paraded through the streets, a crowd of 4,000 following them, marching in step and singing. Feeling runs high throughout Nationalist Ireland. Town Councils are adopting resolutions denouncing "the massacre." The soldiers of the Limerick and Kilkenny garrisons are confined to barracks, and concerts by military bands in several towns have been canceled. The Lord Mayor of Dublin has called a meeting of the Magistrates to consider the action of the Castle authorities in calling out the police and soldiers without consulting the city officials. The police threaten a strike unless those members of the department who were dismissed for disobedience of orders are reinstated. It is announced here that Sir John Ross, the Police Commissioner, resigned as a protest against the suspensions of Deputy Commissioner Marrell. The Nationalists are delighted, as Commissioner Ross was unpopular.

In London the first effect of the Dublin home rule tragedy was to smash Premier Asquith's plans for taking up the amended bill. The Premier announced that the question had been indefinitely postponed. The Irish members are so exasperated over the killing of four persons and the wounding of many others in the clash between the regular troops and the Nationalist volunteers that they are in no frame of mind to grant any concessions to Ulster. The Laborites and many Liberals support them. The Government announced in the House of Commons that Deputy Police Commissioner Marrell, who ordered out the troops, had been suspended, and that his superior Commissioner, Sir John Ross, who expressed a desire to share the responsibility, has resigned his office.

A heated discussion was started in the House of Commons by John

Redmond, the Nationalist leader, who demanded an impartial inquiry into the conduct of the troops and their punishment, if the shooting was not justified. Mr. Redmond compared "this monstrous business" with the parades of armed volunteers in Belfast. "To such a state of impotence has the British Government been reduced in Ireland," he said, "that a subordinate official is unable to call in soldiers without consulting the executive of the country." He expressed the hope that the Irish people would not blame the troops too much and concluded amid great cheers: "Four-fifths of the Irish people will not submit any longer to be bullied and punished for conduct which is allowed to go free in Ulster by another section of their fellow countrymen."

HONORS FOR PASTOR.

The sacerdotal jubilee of the Rev. George W. Schuhmann, D. D., commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the holy priesthood, which began Monday and continued Tuesday, marked perhaps the happiest event in the history of St. John's parish. Moaday morning there was a high mass of thanksgiving, and in the evening members of the congregation and the children gathered in the school hall to extend their congratulations. E. J. Mann was Chairman, and a number of addresses were made in which the pastor was praised for his good work and congratulated. J. J. Driscoll spoke in behalf of the men present. Mrs. J. G. Metcalf for the women, Miss Irene Schmidt for the young women, and John M. Hennessey for the young men. The praises were modestly accepted by Father Schuhmann, who thanked those present and bespoke a greater future for the church and school. The pleasant incident was the presentation of a floral basket to the jubilarian, in which was concealed $1,200 as a token of love and esteem from his parishioners. Tuesday morning Father Schuhmann celebrated his jubilee mass in the presence of Bishop O'Donaghue and nearly a hundred of the clergy, when Father Westerman preached the sermon. Then followed an automobile ride and a great banquet at the Tyler Hotel. Rev. John Riley, of Shelbyville, was the toastmaster, and brief but happy responses were made by Bishop O'Donaghue, Vicar General Cronin and the jubilarian. Father Schuhmann thanked the priests for their generous participation in his silver jubilee, and expressed regret that with the completion of twenty-five years of service he leaves the buoyant junior clergy to take comfort, he said, in the thought that he is now to be added to the company of the senior priests, "tried and grown silvery in the service of the Master."

CONNELLY'S SURPRISE.

County President William J. Connolly was given the surprise of his life last Saturday noon when he arrived home from the Hibernian National convention, which had been in session at Norfolk, Va., that old wise bird, the Stork; having anticipated his arrival by leaving a pretty little boy and girl at his home on North Twentieth street, and just about the time he had started for home. Of course it goes without saying that he is being deluged with congratulations, also a little kidding on the side, while ex-State President George J. Butler, the proud grandpa, has already filled out applications for the new arrivals in the A. O. H. and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

REPORT ON PICNIC.

At the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., Monday evening, in Bertrand Hall, County Financial Secretary Langan made a preliminary report on the recent County Board picnic and stated that when all ticket returns were made a handsome sum would be realized, and would be the best showing in years. President James H. Heaney complimented the Emerald Hibernian Social Club for their handling of the dance hall at the picnic and stated that the dance was a credit to the order. At the next meeting of the division aitatores will be elected to the State convention, which will be held at Covington on September 7 and 8.

SEASON'S BIG EXCURSION.

The big excursion of the present season will be that of the Catholic Knights of Louisville to Jasper, Ind., on Sunday, August 30. Arrangements have been made with the Southern Railway Company for first-class equipment and every accommodation to make the trip enjoyable. President Ben Kruse, Gen. Michael Reichert, Secretary Henry Schulien and Capt. Oscar Maler are making great preparations for a big day, and are being assisted by Capt. Kunkel and the Knights of Jasper. There will be a hearty welcome for the excursionists and many features for their entertainment.

INDOURED BY McDERMOTT.

While in Washington last Saturday night Gov. Edward J. McDermott saw Senator Kern and asked him to endorse Daniel J. Dougherty, of Jeffersonville, Ind., as a candidate for a position as appraiser of physical properties under the Interstate Commerce Commission. Gov. McDermott pointed out that the Southern Indiana man is well qualified to fill such a place, and many Kentuckians would like to see Dougherty obtain the appointment.

BISHOP BYRNE.

The Right Rev. Thomas S. Byrne, Bishop of Nashville, celebrated on Wednesday his seventy-third birthday anniversary. Bishop Byrne, who is loved throughout Tennessee, will soon celebrate his golden jubilee as a priest.

COVINGTON.

The fortieth anniversary of their marriage was fittingly celebrated on Wednesday, July 29, by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Averdick, of Covington. On Wednesday morning solemn high mass was sung in St. Alloysius church by the Rev. Father Ahmann in commemoration of the event. Dr. Averdick is President of the Covington Board of Education and one of Covington's most efficient physicians. The worthy couple have many friends in Louisville, who join in wishing them ad multos annos.

Chosen For National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Convention Sends Cable to Redmond Declaring For Ireland.

Addresses and Reports Received With Applause From Delegates.

BOSTON NEXT MEETING PLACE

The forty-ninth national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held in Norfolk, has passed into history as the greatest and most successful that has taken place since the order was founded in America. Opening with high mass in St. Mary's church, the Right Rev. Denis J. O'Connell, Bishop of Richmond, preached a most eloquent sermon, extending the welcome of Virginia and Norfolk to the Ancient Order. Bishop O'Connell paid a high tribute to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, telling of the birth of the order about 300 years ago in the determination of a people to worship God according to their own belief. "Your priests had been denied the right to say mass, but you said that they should say mass. On the mountain, in the valley, and behind the hedge, you maintained your worship and your order had stood through these years as the staunch supporter of your church and faith."

The first session was held in the Wells Theater, when addresses of welcome were delivered by County President John F. Lawler, Hon. Harvey M. Dickson and State President John J. Blake, the responses being made by Mrs. Ellen Ryan, Jolly, National President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and National President James J. Regan, nill being received with hearty applause. After the Credentials Committee reported President Regan announced the standing committee and the convention got down to real business. Wednesday's session was devoted to consideration of reports and the recommendations of the national officers, all of which showed the order in most flourishing condition.

Home rule for Ireland occupied the attention of the convention on Thursday, when the following cablegram, signed by President Regan, was sent to John E. Redmond: "The Ancient Order of Hibernians, 200,000 strong, in national convention assembled, extends its greetings to you and to the Irish Volunteers. We pledge our assistance. Ireland must not be dismembered."

Sir Roger Casement, of Dublin, Ireland; Hon. Patrick J. Egan, former Minister to Chile, and Bourke Cochran, of New York, were visitors at the Friday morning session and addressed the order. Mr. Egan had been in the city since the convention began, but Sir Roger and Mr. Cochran only arrived that morning from New York. Sir Roger, who is non-Catholic, is one of the foremost leaders in the Irish Volunteer movement. The fact that he is non-Catholic made his address before a strictly Catholic body all the more impressive and agreeable to them. In the course of his remarks Sir Roger stated that when the Irish Volunteers were equipped with 160,000 rifles home rule will become a reality. This he said would not mean civil war, but an overpowering strength in comparison to the four armed counties of Ulster, that are opposing home rule, would have the effect of insuring the bill.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of July 18, in commenting on this matter, expresses itself in no uncertain terms on the circulation and acceptance of such ridiculous tales as this. It emphasizes the fact that Mr. Wilson was not nominated until almost two months after the Titanic disaster, and that this in itself would show the absurdity of the fable. "But the denial" it adds, "will do little good. The only people capable of believing it are monomaniacs on the subject with which the statement dealt, and they will secretly hug it as proof of their suspicions. It was fashioned by some pervert who wished to play on the prejudices of such persons. The only surprising thing is that a speaker so reckless as to repeat it before a representative assembly was not challenged by some friend of truth to produce some evidence to substantiate it. A false sense of courtesy should not serve to protect men who boldly make groundless charges, even though they wear clerical garb."

This editorial pronounces of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, a leading St. Louis daily, is most refreshing. It shows that there is some sense of morality and truth remaining in some of our communities, which have been flooded with similar and even more vicious and unprincipled fabrications for the last three years. The number of "perverts" and "monomaniacs" in this country is indeed surprisingly large at the present time. In the very same city in which the Globe-Democrat is located there resides a certain Rev. J. Scott, D. D., traveler, lecturer and preacher, pastor Plymouth Congregationalist church, who has written an introduction to "The Devil in Robes or the Sins of Priests," one of the most rotten of the Menace's publications, praising the book and commanding the illustrations in it as "true pictures," when as a matter of fact every picture in the volume reflecting on the church and intend to show the cruelty and lust of the priesthood are doctored illustrations, some of them being well known pictures of entirely different events. An Indian Rajah, for example, is passed off as "Father Gonzello of the Philippine Islands," his peculiar headgear being left on his head and a Roman collar and cross added to his make-up. The ignorance and morbid superstition of thousands of American Protestants and the unscrupulousness or lack of knowledge of many of their clergymen is pitiful in the extreme, an opinion which has been expressed in their regard by Dr. Washington Gladden, the well known Protestant divine, in his article on "The Anti-Papal Panic," in the July 19 issue of Harper's Weekly.

People Who Believe This Anti-
Catholic Fable Are Treated

Story Was Falsified by Some Pervert Says the Globe-Democrat.

REV. DR. GLADDEN'S OPINION

In the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, held in Kansas City a short time ago, a certain Dr. J. A. Smith charged that "an edict from the Pope was to the effect that the body of Major Butt commanding all Catholics to vote for a candidate other than Woodrow Wilson in the Presidential election." C. L. Leppert, of South Omaha, Neb., wrote to ex-President Taft, asking him to either affirm or deny this statement. In a letter to Mr. Leppert, dated July 1, Mr. Taft declares that "the statement is false from beginning to end, and I wonder that a church or a minister of a church, who ought to be careful in giving currency to statements of any character without the slightest foundation, should be responsible for this." Mr. Taft points out that the body or effects of Major Butt have never been found.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of July 18, in commenting on this matter, expresses itself in no uncertain terms on the circulation and acceptance of such ridiculous tales as this. It emphasizes the fact that Mr. Wilson was not nominated until almost two months after the Titanic disaster, and that this in itself would show the absurdity of the fable. "But the denial" it adds,

PRIMARY

At Hand With McCrory and Stanley Gaining Much Ground.

Local Democrats Will Remover the Present Beckham Campagniers.

The Latter Not So Bonstal and Sure of the Local Result.

REICHERT PREFERRED TO HALY

This week, the closing one of the campaign for the United States Senatorial nominations for the long and short terms, was featured by the remarkable gains of Gov. McCreary, especially in this district. Congressman Stanley holding his own here, while gaining ground out in the State, and ex-Gov. Beckham losing so rapidly that his campaign managers, becoming alarmed, had already begun their threadbare cries of fraud, which comes with bad grace from the camp which was responsible for the glaring frauds of the Beckam-McCreary primary, when wholesale robbery was perpetrated in the mountain districts. This being the election when trees and animals were voted and the Beckham supporters held back returns three or four days waiting to see how many votes they needed, this statement never having been disproven, and the McCreary and Stanley campaign managers should be careful to prevent a repetition of the same tactics in this primary. Thirt there is going to be a close race is now conceded by the correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, who states that he will have to reverse his opinion of early in the campaign, when he predicted that Beckham would have a walkover.

The change in the situation in Louisville and Jefferson county the past ten days, to say the least, has been startling. No later than two months ago the local Beckham organizers were claiming everything in sight and were strutting about with the proverbial chip on their shoulder daring anyone to dispute their claim, their attitude being echoed by a few office-holders in the City Hall and Court House who espoused the Beckham cause early in the game with the hope of being known as original Beckam men in case the Haly brand of politics was successful here. As an evidence of this spirit the County Clerk's office fell all over themselves, literally speaking, in their haste to furnish the Beckham campaign managers with copies of the registration list, this being a parallel case with that of other city and county officials who have attempted to dictate to subordinate employees and line them up in the Beckham camp. As stated before in these columns, the Haly-Beckam brand of Democracy is not relished by local Democrats, and later on some of these Beckam leaders will have a hard time explaining their present attitude. Right now many of them have realized that their candidate is doomed to run a bad third in this district, causing them to retreat from their former position and plead for harmony and a little mercy on Percy Haly.

The big drift to McCreary this past week emphasizes very forcibly the strength of Chairman Frank McGrath in this district, who in a short period has gathered together a fighting force composed principally of his personal friends, and in the last few days has practically driven the Beckam forces to cover, and may be the later have already dropped the Beckam flag and gone into the McCreary or Stanley camps. The Stanley leaders will have a splendid working organization at every precinct in the city, and Senator Ille Huffaker and Mack Pythian, who have been in charge of the local headquarters, predict a big plurality for their man in Jefferson county. The attempt of some of the Beckam forces to belittle the Stanley campaign because of the support of Lawrence Reichert fails flat when it is taken into consideration that Percy Haly is the Beckam sponsor. The Democrats of Louisville and the State of Kentucky who know Lawrence Reichert will follow him at least as any in any movement in preference to Beckam's man Friday.

HOPE IT'S TRUE.

Thursday the leaders of all the political parties in the United Kingdom held a conference at the residence of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, and press dispatches, while not giving the terms, state that an agreement was reached between all parties in relation to Irish home rule. The international situation was also under discussion, after which it became known that the Government was taking precautions to prevent being surprised by eventualities.

MAD WAR.

When this issue reaches its readers all Europe may be engaged in a war the consequences of which like has never been known. Like many others, we regret that Francis Joseph of Austria has not deemed it meet to comply with the advice of the Pope "not to stain his old age with blood." He could and therefore he should have avoided the war, which insignificant as it is now, may perhaps very soon crimson all the battlefields of Europe. With the Cincinnati Enquirer we think that "Without loss of dignity the Emperor could have bowed his head to the wishes of the Supreme Pontiff."

TRIBUTE TO ICONOCLAST.

In the August number of Brann's iconoclast Editor Windle pays the following tribute to the Catholic priests and nun: "Death and duty often go hand in hand. This is frequently the case in the lives of priests and Sisters of Charity. In Memphis and many other cities visited by plagues you find monuments erected to the memory of priests and nuns who died that others might live. When friendless, when blood relations left victims to die, these strange priests and Sisters came with medicine in their hands and a message of love on their lips. They came to suffer, to serve, to die, yet these are the men and women whose lives are blotted by character assassins like Watson, Walker, Boles, Spurgeon and Seguin. Though a non-Catholic, I permit no person on this earth to go beyond me in my admiration for these martyred to duty. While I live they shall have a defender."

CATHOLIC CHALLENGE.

In a recent sermon on Catholicity, its effect on the lives of its adherents and some of the erroneous beliefs that have grown current, the Rev. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church at Duluth, Minn., had this to say:

"No greater helper to the Catholic church in the long run is there than the orator who indulges in gross misrepresentations. He may tickle the ears of certain foolish people, but he will disgust the thinking men and women, and he will, by his action, only arouse sympathy for the church and excite loyalty in the hearts of the lukewarm Catholic. No greater silliness is there than to rant about an institution like the confessional, which fails to appeal to us, but which has been a source of comfort to millions. Certainly as long as Catholics are willing to give into the keeping of their priests the secrets of their souls, it is no concern of ours. And so, too, it is foolish to attack Catholic asceticism. The great menace of the country is not the Catholic church, nor the Menace, for its days are counted, but the spirit of ignorance, fear and hatred out of which such mad papers and orators arise. To me it will seem that the Catholic church is not so much a menace as it is a challenge. It challenges the entire Protestant church to awaken and become a greater power for good in the lives of men. It bids the various denominations to work together in harmony for the kingdom of God and put aside all bickering and jealousy. It calls to the Protestant church to rival it in good works. And it has its challenge for the free man in religion. It bids him to prove his greater, nobler faith by nobler, greater works."

BIG FISH FRY.

The big fish fry and picnic to be given Monday at Phoenix Hill by the people of St. Agnes' parish and the fathers of the Sacred Heart Retreat on the Newburg road promises to be an affair out of the ordinary and one that all will enjoy. Besides the fish fry and other attractions a novel and pleasing feature will be the distribution of a large number of well-filled and beautifully decorated baskets. Friends of St. Agnes' are invited to come and bring their friends, for whom there will be music and entertainment both afternoon and evening.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION.

Next Monday and Tuesday the United States Commission on Industrial Relations will hear evidence in the city of Lead, S. D., as to industrial conditions in that place and vicinity, and in particular as to the dispute between the Right Rev. Bishop Busch and the Homestake Mining Company on the question of arbitration. This case, it will be recalled, came into prominence about a year ago when Bishop Busch abandoned his see city and appealed to the Catholic clergy and laity to assist him in his fight for a Sunday rest day for the workers in his diocese.

VACATION JOYS INCREASE.

The beautiful grounds of the Catollo Summer School at Cliff Haven, N. Y., are now furnishing joy and recreation to nearly a thousand guests. While amusements are plentiful the educational features attract great interest. The lectures of the week were delivered by the Rev. M. J. Ahern, S. J., of Canisius College, Buffalo; Rev. P. P. Duffy, former professor in St. Joseph's Seminary at Yonkers, and William Laurel Harris, President of the Municipal Art Society of New York.

ATTENDS CHAPTER.

Rev. Father Peter Englert, O. F. M., of St. Boniface Monastery, was in Cincinnati the first part of the week, where he attended the annual chapter of the Franciscan Fathers, held on Tuesday at St. Anthony's Monastery, Mt. Airy.

BACK HOME.

Attorney Austin E. Walsh returned home the first of the week, after a successful ten days' business trip to Chicago and Milwaukee. While impressed with those cities, he says that for him they are not in it with Louisville.

HAPPILY WEDDED.

A pretty wedding was solemnized with a nuptial mass early Tuesday morning at St. Patrick's church, when Robert A. Davin led to the altar Miss Corinne McNally, a popular young lady of that parish. The bride and groom are now on their wedding trip, and after August 10 will be at home at 521 North Twenty-first street. The best wishes of a host of friends follow them into their new life.

RIVERVIEW.

Riverview Park makes a delightful place for an outing, as the cool river breeze is a refreshing experience in itself. But Riverview offers in addition thereto many other delights. There are the free picnic tables, the playgrounds for the children, the open air concerts and the "Spotless Kitchen," which offers a fine menu and up-to-date service with every delicacy of the season awaiting your order.

PRIEST RESCUES WOMAN.

The Rev. John J. Downey, pastor of St. Michael's church at Hartford, Conn., was playing golf near Goodwin Park pond on Saturday, when a patient of a sanitarium jumped from her carriage and threw herself into the water. The priest plunged in after her, and despite the woman's struggles, in which his face was scratched, brought her to shore.

HELP HOME RULE.

Ten thousand dollars was sent to the Trustees of the Irish home rule fund in Dublin by Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, of Boston, National Treasurer of the United Irish League, Tuesday night. In a letter accompanying the draft, Treasurer Fitzpatrick says that recent events have intensified the feeling of sympathy among Irish-Americans and that further financial aid will be extended.

NICE GIFT.

The late Susan L. Emery, author of the "Inner Life of the Soul" and other works, left her writings to the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America, Maryknoll, Ossining, N. Y. Miss Emery was a distinguished convert and from her Protestant days had a special interest in foreign missions. Her sister, who never became a Catholic, was one of the leaders in Protestant mission movements.

BISHOP COMPLETES BURSE.

The Providence diocese, through the Right Rev. Bishop Harkins, has completed a bursa ($5,000) in the American Foreign Mission Seminary at Maryknoll, Ossining, N. Y. The money has been invested and the interest will be applied to the training of a missionary priest. The hope has been expressed by Bishop Harkins that Rhode Island shall always have at least one representative at this seminary, for which from its start the Bishop of Providence has manifested an active sympathy.

CONDENS BIG PARASITE.

Father O'Hara is the Chairman of the Industrial Welfare Commission of the State of Oregon. This commission is charged with the administration of the new law of that State for the establishment of minimum wages for women workers. The spirit in which the commission has entered its work is shown in this statement by Father O'Hara:

"An industry which does not pay its employees enough to cover their necessary living is a parasite on the homes of the poor and is subsidized by its employees. If any industry is so important to the community as to deserve to be sustained by a subsidy such a subsidy should come from some other source than its working girls."

The Oregon statute does not in itself fix the minimum wages. It empowers the commission to fix them, with regard to the facts and the surrounding conditions of each industry. Several lawsuits contesting the rules of the commission and attacking the validity of the statute have been decided by the trial Judge in favor of the law and of the commission's rules in that case. Concerning this litigation Father O'Hara says: "The principle on which the act is based is that the welfare of women must take precedence over any commercial consideration. The mothers of the future generation should not be sacrificed to industrial gain. This is the first time the question has ever been taken into the courts in this country, but similar measures have been in effect in Europe and Australia for many years."

The trial Judge ruled that as "the law regulating the number of hours of labor for women and minors is within the police power and constitutional," so "a law fixing a minimum wage is within the police power."

CARDINAL MANNING'S STORY.

It was Cardinal Manning who related this incident as having happened to himself:

One night I was returning to my residence in Westminster when I met a poor man carrying a basket and smoking a pipe. I thought over this: He who smokes gets thirsty; he who drinks too much gets drunk; he who gets drunk endangers his son. This man is in danger of mortal sin. Let us save him. I affectionately addressed him:

"Are you a Catholic?"
"I am, thanks be to God."
"Where are you from?"

EDUCATION AND CHARACTER.

Education that does not mold character is not education.

It is impossible to build character without a religious foundation.

A good many Christian people outside the Catholic church are beginning to see the futility of education without God.

The less some people have in their heads the more they find to talk about.

REQUESTS TO CHARITY.

John Murray, a pioneer contractor of New York City, and a member of the Tammany Hall Central Committee, who died recently, gave $39,500 to Catholic charities by his will, which has just been probated.
